Wheatbelt medical student immersion program

From 13-16 March 2018 Southern Cross hosted 18 students from Notre Dame and Curtin University. The students were billeted with local residents who generously opened their homes and hearts to them.

During their stay the students visited WA Salt, the Southern Cross District High School, St Joseph's Primary School, Doctor Nwoko and his team at Southern Cross General Practice, the Southern Cross Hospital and Carinaville, St John's Ambulance, Nulla Nulla Farm Retreat and Parnana Pikurtu Wildlife Sanctuary and the Yilgarn History Museum.

On Thursday night all billet families and people the students met along their visit were invited to a dinner, where the students and staff expressed their gratitude and praise towards their billet “parents” and the wider community.

All students had a great time thanks to all the welcoming people and helpers, special thanks to Coke for driving them around in the bus, Jim from WA Salt, Nick Eiffler driving the bus to Nulla Nulla, Ron Goodhill for showing them around, all billet families and all others that made time to be part of this program.

The immersion program is an initiative by Rural Health West, Curtin University and Notre Dame University supported by WEROC councils (Yilgarn, Westonia, Merredin, Bruce Rock and Kellerberrin). This is a three year program which means we will welcome students again in March 2019 and there will be opportunities to be involved for the community.

Pioneers of Yilgarn

Stage 1.

Citizens who built this district between years 1887 and 1914

Jones, Charlie: In 1910 Charlie Jones found gold and named his new find 'Bullfinch.' His discovery re-vitalised Southern Cross which became known as the gateway to Bullfinch. Charlie owned a quarter interest, the rest belonging to his backers, and as it was particularly rich they all made a fortune. A township to house the workforce went up. It still exists today.

The Bullfinch mine closed in 1922 but has been revived several times since as gold prices rise and more modern methods come on stream. Bullfinch has contributed greatly to the economy of this State and Yilgarn in particular, thanks to Charlie Jones and his remarkable nose for gold.

NOTICE OF BAITING PROGRAM FOR WILD DOGS

www.ewbg.com.au

The Eastern Wheatbelt Biosecurity Group advises that from January 1st 2018, heavy baiting programs (using 1080 meat baits) to control wild dogs will be carried out by Licensed Pest Management Technicians on Unallocated Crown Land to the east of the State Barrier Fence. In addition to 1080 baiting programs, technicians will be using foot hold traps treated with Strychnine to remove Wild Dogs that are currently impacting the livestock industry in the Eastern Wheatbelt Biosecurity Group region.

From January 1st 2018, the standard wild dog control methods will be ongoing and this may include setting of traps and dispersing of 1080 meat baits in the groups operational area.

The poison baits will remain toxic for a number of months or until substantial rainfall is received. People are advised to take care when working within or visiting these areas.

Warning signs have been placed where applicable on Unallocated Crown Land and main access roads.

Picnic sites and recreational reserves are not included within the baiting program; however, baiting may take place adjacent to such areas and domestic pets should be kept close and under control at all times.

1080 baiting is an integral part of the wild dog pest management program to protect livestock from death and injury caused by wild dogs.

Exercise caution to prevent your pets from being poisoned by 1080 baits.

If a wild dog is sighted, please report to the Eastern Wheatbelt Biosecurity Group immediately.

If poisoning occurs, contact a doctor or Poisons Information Centre (phone 13 11 26).

For further details please contact, the Eastern Wheatbelt Biosecurity Group on 0455 724 848 or ewbg@outlook.com.

Fact Sheet

Don't make excuses for your symptoms

It's easy to make excuses for signs and symptoms you notice. But if you don't do something, you could be playing with your life - they could be signs of cancer.

It's easy to make excuses and think signs and symptoms are because:

I'm just getting older

Often people blame changes to their body on the fact that they are getting older.

Although getting old does cause changes, it is important to know your body and recognise any that are unusual or long lasting.

Even if you're not worried, it is safer to tell your doctor about any changes or symptoms you find.

It's probably just...something else

If you notice an unusual change to your body or a possible sign or symptom don't make excuses for it!

Sometimes people blame signs and symptoms on a condition they already have, or try to find a reason for them.

Changes to your body can be caused by many different things but it is important to tell your doctor about any persistent (long lasting) changes you notice.

Your doctor is trained to recognise signs and symptoms and they will want to know of any changes that happen to you.

The earlier cancer is found, the greater the chance of successful treatment.

I'm working too hard

It is normal to feel tired or worn-out due to work commitments from time to time.

But if you find that you are constantly tired or lacking in energy it is important to let your doctor know.

Sometimes it's easy to blame a lack of energy on work or other commitments, but if you notice a big change in your energy levels, tell your doctor

My old diet's finally working!

Small weight changes over time are normal.

But if you have noticeably lost weight, without recent dieting or exercising more, you should talk to your doctor.

Even if you're not worried about it, it's safer to tell your doctor about any changes or symptoms you notice.

"I'll be right"

Sometimes people ignore their symptoms or think that they will go away in time.

But a change or symptom is your body's way of telling you that something isn't right.

It is important to recognise any changes and tell your doctor.

Even if you're not worried about it, it's better to get it checked out and be on the safe side.

Don't fool yourself – tell your doctor if you notice anything different with your body.

Feeling Blue?

Act Green!

It seems that watching wildlife shows, exploring parks and gardens, looking at fabulous mountain and ocean views, and getting away from it all to the bush and Pacific island beaches are not only pleasurable, but are actually good for us!

Eminent biologists, psychologists and health professionals are showing that contact with nature — whether through parks, natural bush, pets or farm animals — helps us recover from stress and mental fatigue, helps us relax and puts us in a good frame of mind.

Of course, most of us know this intuitively and it's probably why we are drawn to nature instinctively. We all know that a walk on the beach, down a bush track or in a park is good to clear the head when we feel a little tired or stressed.

So, next time you are feeling like a lift, 'act green': do some gardening, pet the cat or dog, take a walk around the park or head down to the water for some time out.

Better still, don't wait until you're tired or feeling flat. Act green more often. Being in touch with nature makes us feel good, builds good mental health and helps beat the blues. And it's as easy as A-B-C!

Act: do some gardening; take a walk around the local park; watch a wildlife documentary; take time to watch the sun set; spend time with pets...

Belong: get a group together for a picnic in a natural setting; visit a wildlife sanctuary with friends; join a hiking group...

Commit: become a 'civic environmentalist'; join a tree planting group; volunteer to keep your local parks & gardens clean; take up orienteering; learn more about ecology; offer to take a home-bound person out to a park...

Being active, having a sense of belonging, and having a purpose in life all contribute to happiness and good mental health.

Meningococcal vaccine for 1-4 year olds

A FREE vaccination to protect against meningococcal strains ACWY is being offered to all children aged 12 months to less than five years.

Meningococcal disease is an uncommon, but sometimes life-threatening illness. At any one time, about 10 per cent of healthy people carry meningococcal bacteria harmlessly in their nose or throat and do not become ill. To reduce the incidence of meningococcal disease among this vulnerable age group, a free vaccine will be available throughout 2018.

Contact your local GP or Child Health Clinic to schedule an appointment for your child/children to receive the vaccine.

WESTONIA MAGNESITE (WM)

13% Magnesium 4%Ca, 7%Fe

+trace Co, Cu, Mn, Zn, K, P & S it fertilises!
Tested NV = 37 % That is 37% every year not just the first year!

Please Let me explain!

WM is more than 2 billion years old when it is mined it oxidises fast.
Oxidises means breakdown into smaller bits. Every year releasing more minerals AND more NV.

Limes and gives one bang => over!

WM will keep banging for years!

Do you want 1 bang or years of banging?
A Bull S..t lab test tube wont test 4 this!

Used for 20 + years with testimonials
