Proudly presented by:

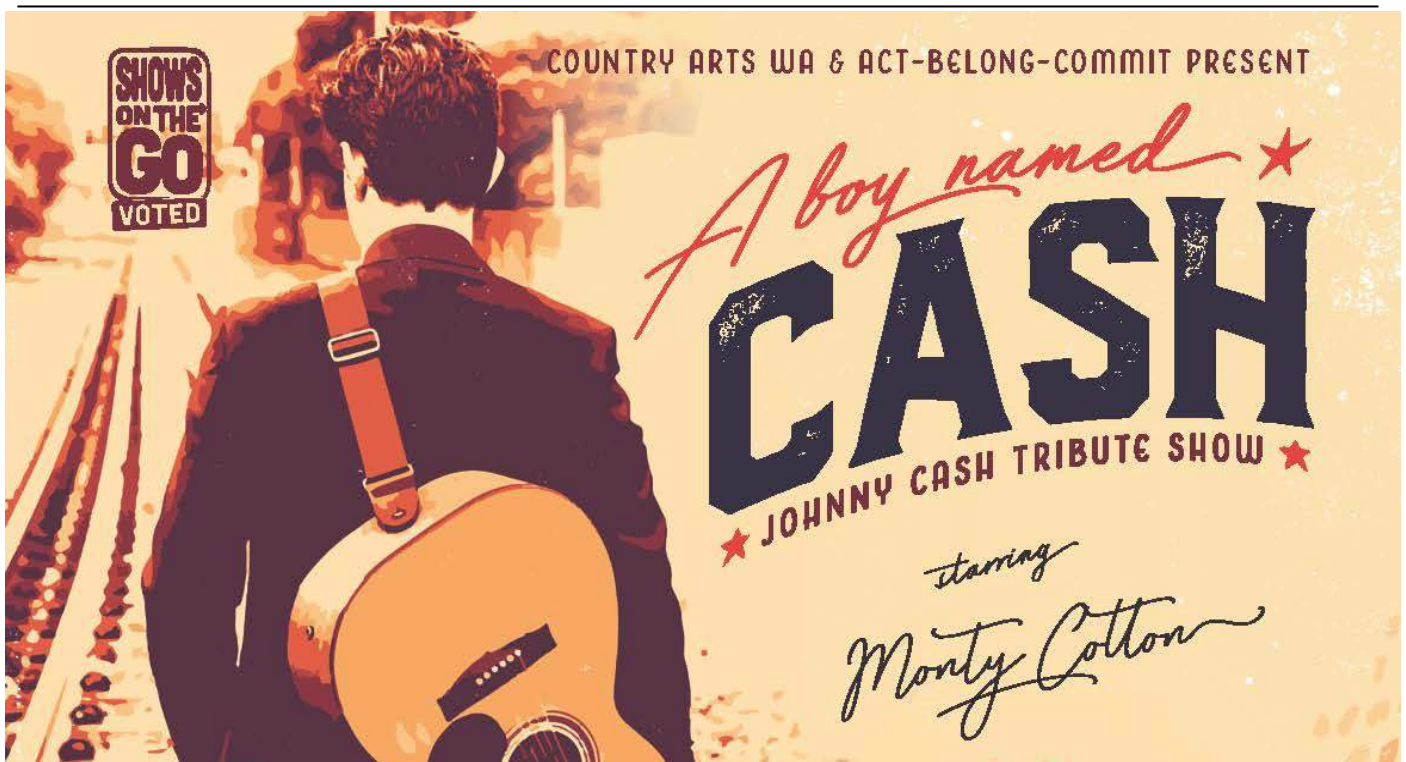

A fantastic night was had by all that attended the Comedy Gold Night held at the Southern Cross Sporting Complex Lounge on Friday 24th August.

The 66 people that came were in stitches the whole night!

All four comedians brought a whole lot of laughs with a lot of on the spot witty interaction with the audience.

Thank you to Anthony Lamond, Lindsay, Josh, Rory and Bob for bringing some much needed smiles to the faces in the Yilgarn.

TOUR COORDINATED BY COUNTRY ARTS WA

All that attended the Johnny Cash tribute show, A Boy Named Cash on Wednesday 29th August were treated to an amazing show full of great music, audience participation and spectacular guitar work that the Man in Black himself would have been impressed with.

It was great to see 90 people brave the cold weather to support another Country Arts WA performance presented by the Shire of Yilgarn.

Thank you to Monty Cotton, Janie and Tom for bringing your fantastic show to the people of the Yilgarn.

Pioneers of Dilgarn

Stage 1.

Citizens who built this district between years 1887 and 1914

McInnes, Edwin: Came to Southern Cross in 1893 and drove the coach to Coolgardie, before acquiring a carrying business which he developed into the largest in the district. He had 20 teams on the road: Lorries, wood drays, tip drays, and buggies.

Mail contracts were a specialty. In addition he had horse and camel and donkey teams, hauling gold ore, mining machinery, and general freight. His prized possession was a steam driven road tractor with solid wheels nick-named jumbo which worked the Marvel Loch run.

He married Alice James and raised a family of five sons and one daughter who helped him in the business. When farming was thrown open in 1902,

McInnes took up the first block of 160 acres and grew wheat and 40 acres of fruit trees, a pioneer farmer with block No 1. His house in Southern Cross was the first to be connected to scheme water when the town was reticulated in 1903, the house still standing on lot 179.

McInnes was also a town councillor for many years, and was a man who got things done. He died in 1927 and is buried in Southern Cross cemetery.

First regional school to visit Constable Care Safety School

MEDIA RELEASE – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

27 August 2018

Safety first for St Joseph’s students

Lucky students from St Joseph’s Catholic Primary School in Southern Cross were the first students from regional Western Australia to experience the new Constable Care Safety School in Perth.

The excursion facility is the first of its kind in WA and teaches primary students life-saving road safety skills in a realistic urban environment, complete with fully-functioning railway crossings, traffic lights, roads and buildings.

“A must incursion for all students, particularly in regional schools who do not readily experience the various traffic scenarios and rules associated with city life,” said St Joseph’s Southern Cross Principal Rika Andres. “The students walked away with a clearer understanding of the various road rules and how to keep themselves safe on the road, particularly whilst riding their bikes around town.”

St Joseph’s students divided their time between navigating the roads on bicycles, and acting as pedestrians whilst learning how to safely interact with hazards such as oncoming cars or fallen powerlines. These hazards are simulated using gaming-style augmented reality.

Constable Care Child Safety Foundation CEO David Gribble said, “few people realise that road trauma is a leading cause of death for children in WA. The Constable Care Safety School helps to reduce the number of kids killed or injured on WA roads by using a best-practise early intervention approach. After all, the best piece of safety equipment we can give our children is knowledge.”

“The augmented reality component is especially exciting as it allows the students to practice facing hazards in a real-life environment, without ever being in danger. This gaming-style approach is very engaging for children and helps them retain these life-saving lessons,” Mr Gribble said.

Regional and remote schools unable to make the trek to Perth need not miss out entirely. Constable Care Child Safety Foundation has adapted the Safety School’s augmented reality road safety lessons for the classroom. They are available for free download on iPads via the Apple App Store under the name ‘Arility’.

Constable Care Safety School is located on Sixth Avenue, Maylands. To book an excursion for your school visit www.ccsafetyschool.org.au or call 9272 0000.

New Website designed to grow farmers' wellbeing

This website has been designed by Australian farmers to help other Australian farmers cope effectively with life's challenges and get the most out of every day. It does this by sharing practical ways of coping with difficult circumstances, thoughts and feelings (especially worries about things one can't control). It also helps to work out where it is most useful for farmers to focus their attention and energy.

This free website is designed to be useful for both farmers who are feeling stressed and those who would simply like some tools to improve their ability to cope with uncertainty associated with life on the land.

There are 5 short modules on this website to help farmers take charge and reduce the negative impact of stressful situations, so they have more time and energy to focus on the things that make them happy. More details at www.ifarmwell.com.au/

With Senior Regional Officer Mark Ing Get the best out of comparator websites

Using comparator websites can seem like the most efficient way to get a good deal when consumers are faced with a wide variety of options to choose from.

But we all need to be aware of how these sites actually work to make sure we do get the best price, because the way the information has been selected and displayed may not be immediately transparent.

Under the Australian Consumer Law (ACL), you have the right to expect that comparator websites will provide truthful and accurate representations, statements or claims.

The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) has instituted proceedings in the Federal Court against trivago N.V. (Trivago) alleging it made misleading hotel pricing representations in its television advertising and website, in breach of the ACL.

The ACCC alleges that from at least December 2013, Trivago ran television advertisements presenting its website as an impartial and objective price comparison service that would help consumers identify the cheapest prices for hotel rooms. However, Trivago's website prioritised advertisers who were willing to pay the highest cost per click fee to the company.

Trivago's website aggregates deals offered by online travel sites and hotel proprietors for available rooms at a hotel and then highlights one price out of all their advertisers, which the ACCC alleges created an impression that the highlighted price was the best deal. However, in many cases the highlighted price was not the cheapest available at that hotel.

So to get the best out of comparator websites you need to:

- Know what is being compared. The website may not compare all the offers or products in the market, so check what's on offer across a range of comparator sites.
- Check if there's a commercial relationship. The website operators may have commercial relationships with, or receive financial inducements from, listed businesses that can influence recommendations.
- Identify the site owner. Sometimes a comparator website is owned and operated by the same business that owns the products being compared.
- Work out what you need. Before you start searching, decide what non-price factors are important to you such as hotel location or a direct flight rather than one requiring a stopover.
- Check offer availability on other websites including the service provider's website. Comparator website operators allow service providers to add or remove offers in a number of ways, such as placing restrictions on how many products can be sold in a month on that site.
- Double-check what's covered. Product classification can vary and you may need to check the websites of the service providers for the full details.
- Check the site's privacy policy. Some operators use your information for purposes other than comparing products. Make sure you are comfortable with how your data will be used.
- Work out the total cost. Be aware that these websites may compare the headline price only, with additional fees and charges only disclosed further down the track.

There are a number of comparator websites operated by government agencies. These websites are designed to provide consumers with industry-wide information and they are free of charge.

For more information about your consumer rights visit our website at www.consumerprotection.wa.gov.au, call 1300 30 40 54 or email consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au.

Meet The Team!

Meet Zoe our Health Promotion Officer (and Lenny the lamb pictured).

What brought you to Merredin?

After completing my double degree of Population Health and Human Geography and Urban Planning I worked in a range of roles in Perth including Perth Children's Hospital

Project. Itching to get out of my comfort zone and try something new, I moved to Merredin to take up my role here in 2017!

What does your job entail?

Health Promotion is a very diverse role, but my focus is working with community to prevent poor health. I travel across our 12 shires and can jump from running cooking classes at a school one day to exercise classes the next! I also attend meeting to advocate for Public Health Planning, see clients through our Wheatbelt Quit Smoking Program, visit playgroups as part of our Child Development Services and run Stay on Your Feet sessions.

I also help run the My Healthy Wheatbelt Facebook Page (check it out!) and am the person who puts together all newsletters and media releases.

LIKE US ON FACEBOOK
facebook.com/MyHealthyWheatbelt

What is an interesting fact about you?

While at university I studied abroad at the University of Vermont (USA). I am about to embark on a 6 week backpacking trip around Europe to catch up with all my exchange mates. Unfortunately Lenny (my lamb) and three piglets Peppa, Harry Trotter and Kevin Bacon can't come!

Community Midwifery

We sadly said good bye to Michelle our local Community Midwife who has moved to warmer climates up North! We are currently recruiting to fill our Community Midwife role.

In the meantime Wheatbelt Group Midwifery Practice will be assisting in providing antenatal and postnatal care to women and their babies across the Eastern Wheatbelt. They can be contacted on 9690 1633.

Healthy Country Kids

Please contact your local Child and Community Health Nurse or call 9041 0444 to ensure your child receives these free vaccinations.

- Free Influenza Vaccination available for 6 month-5 year olds.
- Free Meningococcal ACWY Vaccination available for 1- 5 year olds.
- Free Meningococcal ACWY Vaccination still available for 15-19 year olds.

Healthy Country Kids Ears

The next Healthy Country Kids Ear Health Clinic will be held in Merredin on Monday 15th October. If you child experiences recurring ear infections or tonsillitis they could be eligible to access this free service.

This service uses telehealth to link you with an Ear Nose and Throat specialist at Perth Children's Hospital Ear Nose and Throat Specialist without the need to travel to Perth! Speak to your Child and Community Health Nurse and request a referral from your GP.

Social Work

The National Redress Scheme will provide support to people who were sexually abused as children while in the care of an institution. The establishment of a National Redress Scheme was recommended by the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse. The Scheme is one way Australian governments are working to acknowledge and help people who experienced child sexual abuse. The Scheme started on 1 July 2018, and will run for 10 years. It is designed so that relevant organisations take responsibility to make amends for sexual abuse that happened to children they were looking after. The Redress Scheme can provide three things:

- Access to psychological counselling.
- A direct personal response such as an apology from the responsible institution.
- A monetary payment.

Kate our Social Worker can support clients to access this scheme for free. Please contact Eastern Wheatbelt Primary Health on 9041 0444 or request a referral from you GP.

Scamwatch radar alert

Beware scammers wanting access to your computer and bank account

Scammers are increasingly catching out people by impersonating well-known businesses or the police so they can get access to computers and steal money or banking information.

The ACCC's Scamwatch website has recorded a significant spike in these types of scams, known as remote access scams, with more than 8000 reports recorded in 2018 so far and losses totalling $4.4 million.

"The spike in remote access scams is very concerning; losses so far in 2018 have already surpassed those for the whole of 2017, and sadly it is older Australians that are losing the most money," ACCC Deputy Chair Delia Rickard said.

Scammers will impersonate a well-known company, most commonly Telstra, NBN or Microsoft, or even the police, and spin you a very credible and believable story about why they need to access your computer using software such as TeamViewer.

"The scammers are becoming more sophisticated. The old trick scammers used to use was to call people and say there was a virus on their computer that needed fixing but, in a new twist, scammers are now telling people they need their help to catch hackers," Ms Rickard said.

The scammers claim they are tracking the 'scammers' or 'hackers', and tell the consumer that their computer has been compromised and is being used to send scam messages. This is where they say with the victim's help, they can use the victim's computer and online banking to trap the (fake) 'scammer'.

The scammer will then pretend to deposit money into their victim's account. In reality the scammer just shuffles money between the victim's accounts (for example, from a person's credit card account to a savings account), which gives the illusion of money being deposited. The money is then sent out of the victim's account as part of the con to 'catch a scammer', straight to the scammer's own bank accounts.

"Unfortunately there are many stories from people who give a scammer access to their computer and are then conned into giving access to online banking. Some are also tricked into providing iTunes gift card numbers over the phone to these scammers," Ms Rickard said.

Once the scammer has a victim on the hook, if they start to doubt the situation, the scammer will become threatening, stating that the victim would jeopardise the investigation if they refuse to help and may even face legal consequences.

These types of scam can be very scary, as scammers can become threatening and aggressive if they sense they are 'losing' the victim, or starting to cotton on. This is particularly frightening for older people who may not be as tech savvy.

"It's vital that people remember they should never, ever, give an unsolicited caller access to your computer, and under no circumstances offer your personal, credit card or online account details over the phone," Ms Rickard.

"If you receive a phone call out of the blue about your computer and remote access is requested, it's a scam 100 per cent of the time. Just hang up."
